VINCENTIAN

St. Vincent's Academy
Shreveport, Louisiana
Volume XXXI

Editor: Lucy Borne
Asst. Editors: Gloria Bruce, Elizabeth Scalf

Dear students,

To most people, this yearbook is just a collection of faces, ordinary faces of ordinary girls. But to those of us who know and love St. Vincent's, the 1969 Vincentian is more than just a collection of pictures. It is a year of our lives captured between the covers of a book. Yet, as you turn the pages of this book, notice that it also contains memories of another time—the time of the past. It is this past, St. Vincent's century of existence, and this present, our year of high school, in which we take great pride.

The combined efforts of many people have produced this book. You, the students, can truly say that this is your book for your industry, support of the ad campaign, and your cooperation have made the book something special. A warm thanks is extended to Mr. Shorter who came through with pictures and helpful suggestions throughout the year. Another special thank-you goes to Patti Hansen, whose excellent pictures appear many times in the book. How can we express our gratitude to our sponsor, Sister Rita, who has always been there to guide and help us. We wish to thank all who patronized our book and especially those who have worked so hard on this book—the 1969 Vincentian Staff.

On behalf of ourselves and the Vincentian Staff, we hope that this yearbook will be a treasury of those moments that mean something special to you.

Sincerely,

Lucy Borne

DEDICATION

From day to day, we pass through the halls of S.V.A. sharing with others our laughter, our success, our disappointment, and our sorrow. While we may not realize it, our laughter echoes that of others—others who have come before us.

For a century, girls have walked the halls of St. Vincent's—learning, loving, and growing. Many have left St. Vincent's and have taken their place in the fast-moving world. Some of us are presently attending S.V.A. Yet we, the past and the present, have one important thing in common, we are all a part of St. Vincent's. With this in mind, the 1969 Vincentian staff proudly dedicates this book to the student body of St. Vincent's Academy, 1869-1969.

Yesterday Is Today's Memory . . .

Tomorrow Is Today's Dream

Lovely Ladies of the Century, 1869-1969!

For one hundred years now, girls as feminine as Eve and as witty as Becky Sharp have crossed the threshold of St. Vincent's Academy. By far the greater majority of these ladies have been gentle in speech, personally attractive and Christian in the true sense of that word. Therefore, let us trace some facts pertinent to this century. In a World that has lost Faith, religion is replaced by work and achievement. Hence, we are falsely judged now, not by what we "ARE" but what we "DO". So, it might be that each one needs to ask "Who am I?" Would the answer be:

> We are a syllable in the Word that God spoke in the beginning of eternity;
> We are a living stone in that Temple whose cornerstone is the never dyi Christ;
> We are a branch in that Vine God planted in time (1869-1969), set i hreve> port, that Mystical Body whose Head is "God of God, true God of true God";
> We are a miracle in North Louisiana in answer to the prayer of the Daughters of the Cross in America for the last one hundred years.

Do our actions subscribe to the above answer? Should it take another miracle to LIVE this, God would call:

> A legion of angels to destroy a million worlds to bring that grace to be;
> and that grace would run to us leaping from star to star and from planet to planet to restore our life and our joy;
> and if the waters of the earth were in the way of receiving the grace humbly asked for, it would surge over the angry tempest and dry it up;
> and if the mountains complained, they would be cast down, for what we are facing here is the oath of an Eternal and All-powerful God;
> and furthermore, if an Archangel stood in its way to stop this grace, his sword would melt into nothingness before the overwhelming force of God's love!

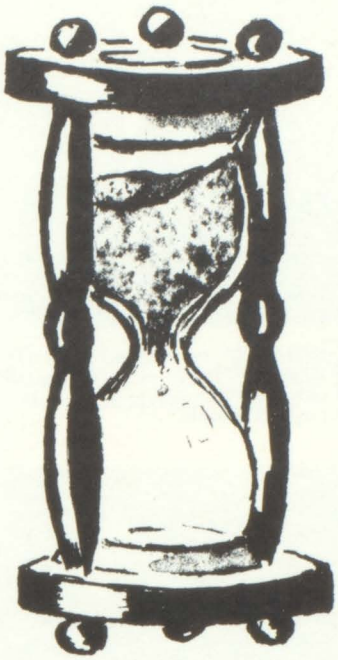

Therefore, the hope of the Daughters of the Cross and their students is that the next 100 years may find each one living close to God in TRUST; and may "The Lord watch between me and thee when we are absent one from another."

Gen. 31:49

Devotedly yours in Christ,

Sister Mary Patricia, D.C.

Alumnae

The Alumnae of Saint Vincent's share with each other both the happy and the sad memories of their yesterdays. With them, the sand began to sift through the hourglass, and now, even though the sand has settled to the bottom, the Alumnae still cherish each year, month, and moment of yesteryear.

Features

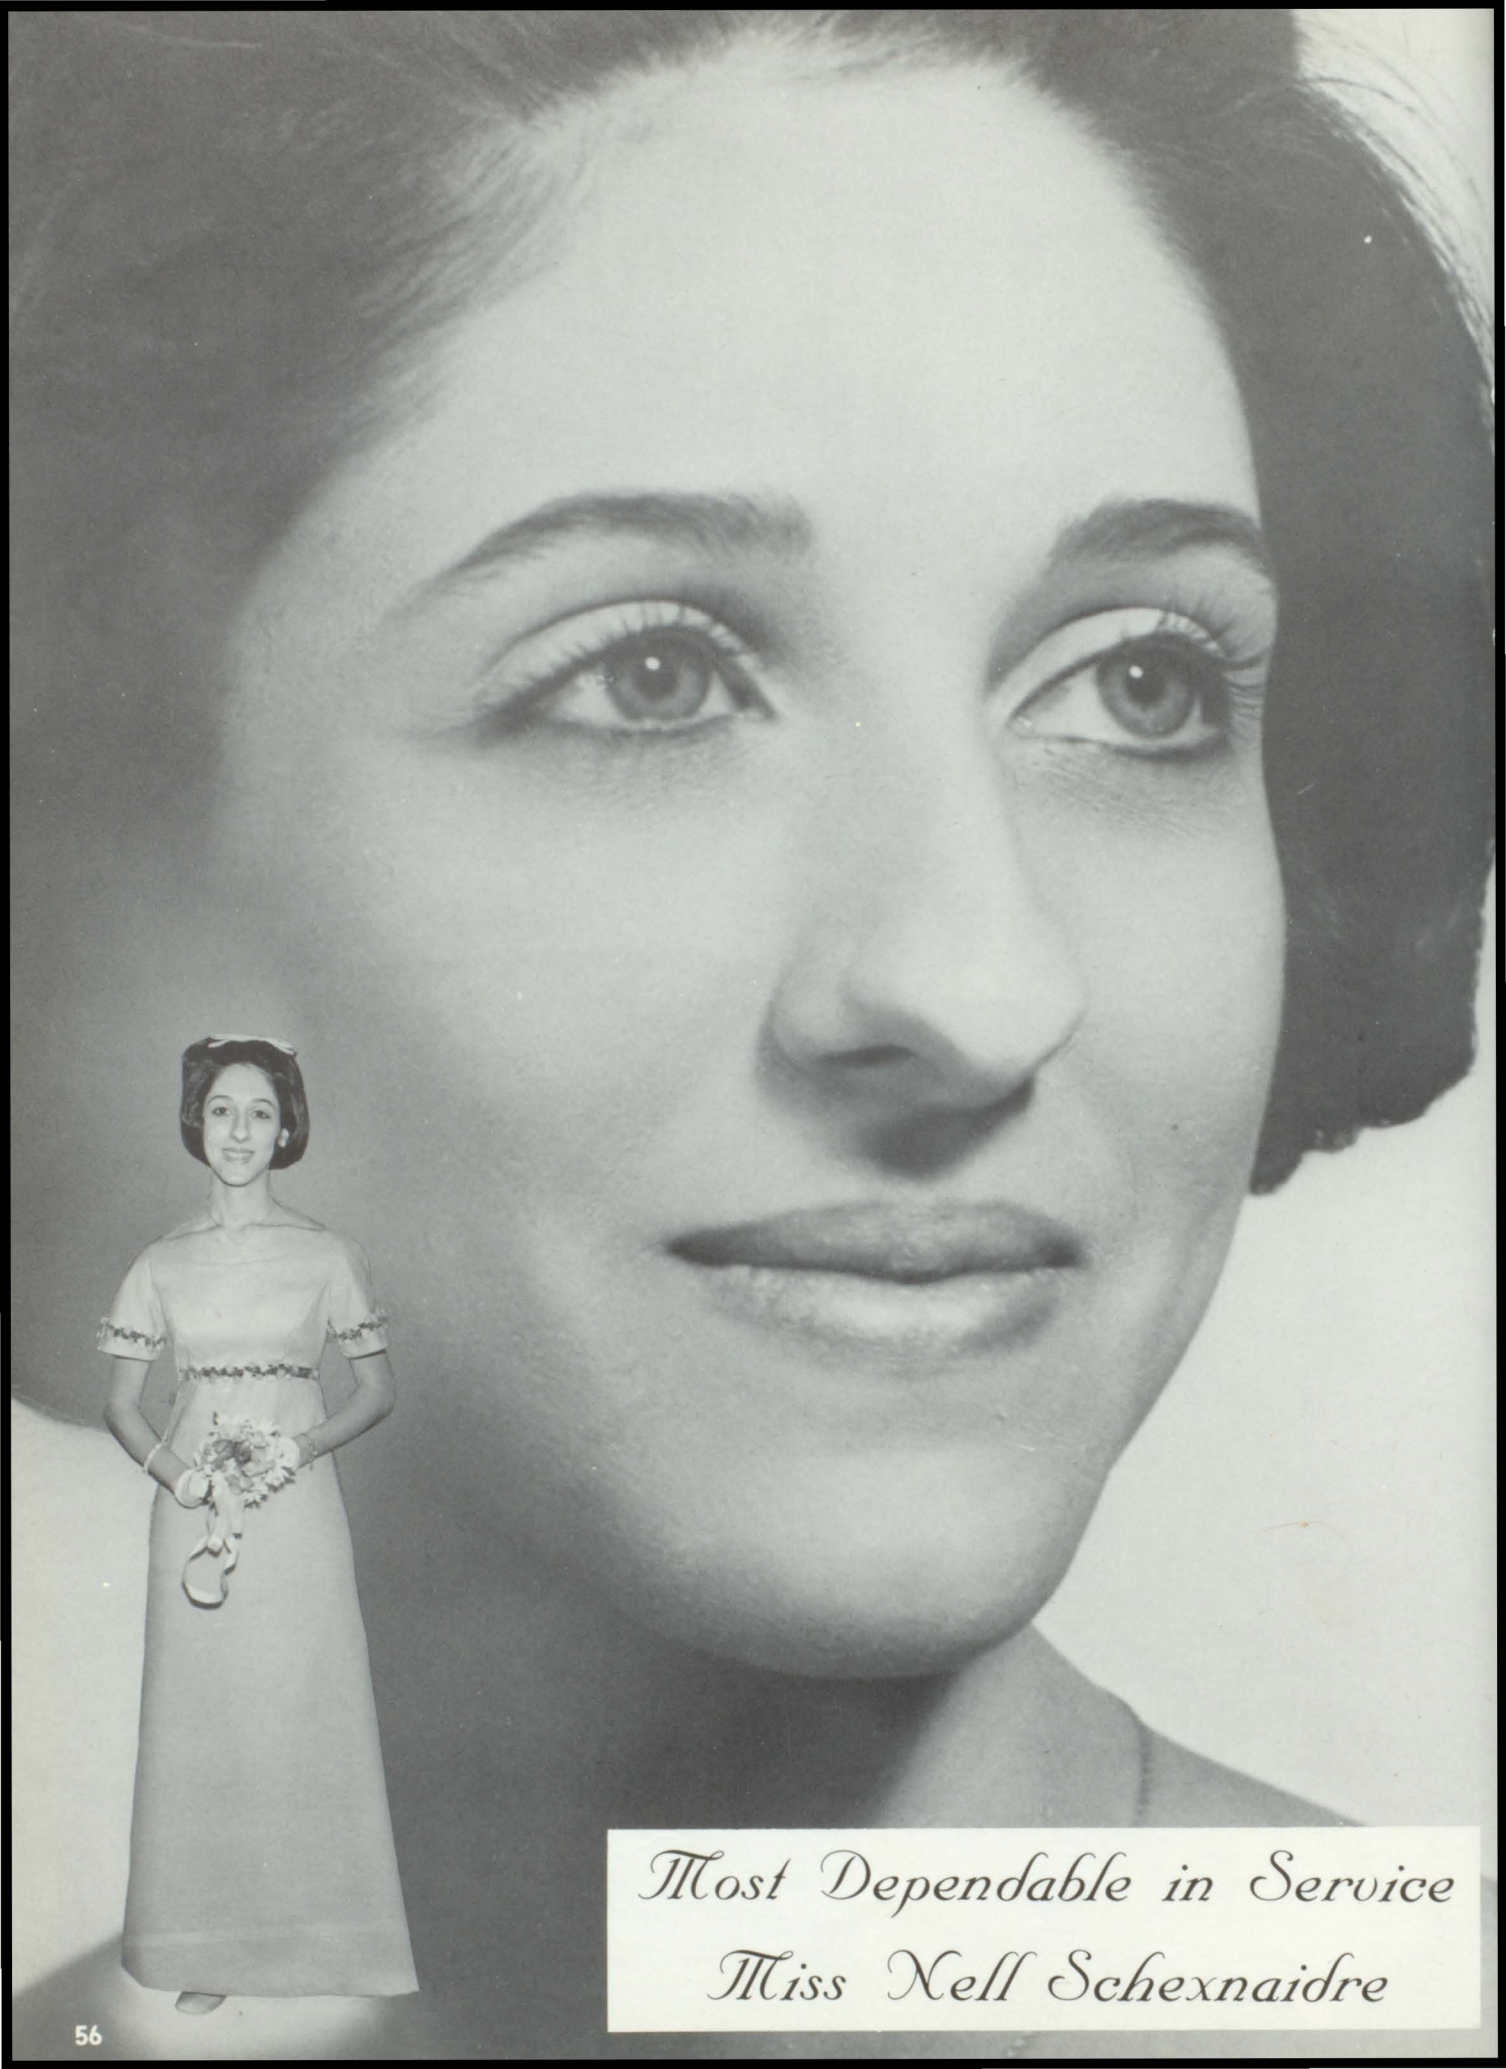

Sand in the hourglass sifts silently and swiftly by leaving the past, our yesterdays; making the present, our todays; and presenting the future, our tomorrows. Treasured events, such as receiving honors, which bring a sense of fulfillment and joy in the present, become the past after one fleeting moment of time. However, these much appreciated and prized moments will live on as vivid memories in the minds of those who achieve these special honors.

"Typical Lovely Lady" is a fitting title for Lynn Oden who has captivated all who know her with her warmth and charm. She possesses those qualities that make a true lady —the poise, beauty, and friendliness, the intelligence, leadership, and dependability. Lynn has served as Treasurer of Dramatics, Secretary-Treasurer of the National Honor Society, and Alternate to Pelican Girl's State. During this past year, she has given much service to the school as Secretary of Student Council. Lynn Oden truly deserves the title of "Typical Lovely Lady."

S.V.A. Day to Day

As each moment of time grows to a minute, an hour, a day, and a week, so the students of Saint Vincent's Academy grow from day to day. Daily life affects each and every person attending the school. It carves in the sands of time the molds of their characters and personalities. Assemblies, parties, friends, and the routine of everyday classes prepare a student for the hardships and joys of the future. Since 1869, students have entered and passed through the doors of the academy and have faced their days with determination and strong will. Now in the year of 1969, one hundred years of life at S.V.A. have passed. The following section is only a small portion of the history of S.V.A. from day to day.

Mr. Chico observes Advanced Math—Merrit Martin style.

For almost three years the Juniors have attended St. Vincent's Academy. During this period, time has sifted quickly and quietly through the hourglass leaving behind wonderful memories, which will for all ages be embedded in the minds of the Juniors. They will continue to look ahead to the future with hope, anticipation, and excitement, as their dreams of today will become their tomorrows.

Freshmen

The Freshmen have attended St. Vincent's Academy for almost one year. Their year is a very special one, for it comes at the end of a century of S.V.A. existence. At the beginning of the century the sand began to sift through the hourglass, and now at the end of the centtury the sand has all sifted to the bottom. However, the overturning of the hourglass will mark the commencement of a new century and a bright future for the Freshmen.

Through the generosity of our many patrons, the publication of this yearbook was made possible. Without their wonderful kindness and co-operation, the memories of the 1969 school year would be dimmed. Therefore, in appreciation, we dedicate this section to them, and hope that in future years we will be as generous to others as they have been to us.
